Maximising your school's ICT budget

IT's Personal

Is your school's ICT budget feeling the pinch?

The pressure on your school's budget has never been greater. You don't want to borrow needlessly but due to the way your school funding works it isn't always possible to implement the ICT projects that your school needs. You either have to alter the project, delay full delivery or put it off. Yet you are still expected to deliver reliable and up-to-date cross curricular ICT.

Get the ICT that your school needs

At Viglen, we take a common sense approach to ICT purchasing. That's why we've designed a finance solution specifically for the needs of schools, one that will make most effective use of available budgets.

We take into account your school's recurring budgets, allowing you to benefit from well planned and implemented ICT resource from day one. We can even include options for upgrading in the future. No mess or staggered deployment, just an ICT solution that meets your exact requirements in a cost effective and practical way.

Buy now, pay later

We can also offer a buy now pay later facility. Ideal for schools who want to complete an ICT installation before their actual budgets are released or if you want to bring forward a summer upgrade say to Easter or a half term. The benefit of this is that your school gets what it needs when it needs it rather than when budgets dictate.
